GENTS:—A number of people had been using your Bitters here, and with marked effect. In fact, one case, a lady of overseventy years, had been sick for years, and for the past ten years I have known her she has not been able to be around half the time. About six months ago she got so feeble she was helpless. Her old remedies, or physicians, being of no avail. I sent to Deposit, forty-live miles, and got a bottle of Hop Bitters. It had such a very beneficial effect on her that one bottle improved her no she was able to dress herbeneficial effect on her that one bottle improved her so she was able to dress herself and walk about the house. When she had taken the second bottle she was able to take care of her own room and walk out to her neighbor's, and has improved all the time since. My wife and children also have derived great benefit from their use.

GENTS:—Whoeveryou are, I don't know, but I thank the Lood and feel grateful to you to know that in this world of adulterated medicines there is one compound that proves and does all It advertises to do, and more. Four years ago, I had a slight shock of paley, which unnerved me to such an extent that the least excitement would make me shake like the agus. Last May I was induced to try Hop Bitters. I used one bottle, but did not see any change; another did so change my morves that they are now as ateady as they ever were. It used to take both hands to write, but now my good right hand writes this. Now, if you continue to manufacture as houset and good an article as you do, you will accumulate an honest ferume and confer the versate blessing on your do, you will accumulate an honest fortune and confer the greatest blessing on your fellow-men that was ever conterred on mankind. ANSW Song.

BY CHARLE CARROLL SAWYER.

The story we left freiand, I ne'er can forget it.

The story and lears of desperi.

The scood-byes and kissing, the sad word of parting.

And mother is last bressing and prayer.

Proof faither, though weary, hourtbroken and feeble, Poor lather, though weary, heartbroken and feeble, Came with he almost to the bay, and when the ship sailed he but whispered "God bless you," Then watched till wesped far away,

Then was noted in warped an analy.
The day we left Ireland, how often in dreaming,
I see my dear loved one at home,
Bit stoon I swell of the broad occan
Divides us, and I am alone.
Divides us, and I am alone,
Farewell little Teddy and golden-halred Molly,
And Neily I oh, had I the wings,
How swillty I'd By to the home of my childhood,
Where thought of sweet memory cings.

The day we left Ireland—but why am I weeping?
Be still, throbbing heart, I forgot,
Perhaps egain some day my loved ones will meet perhaps upon the sad tears of errer?
Old Ireland, my country, you bright, sparkling Emerald,
Oppressed and cuslaved though you be,
They never can darken or tarnish your lustre,
Dear, sweet little gem of the sea.

Old Ireland, I love thee, dear home of my childnood, You bright, aparkling gem of the sea; Sweet angels of Justice thelf white wings are spreading, And Ireland soon shall be free.

HIS CHILD.

Doctor Lemoine was one of the most courtly and sileble of Paris physicians. He was once called upon by an athletic, ruddy personage, who certainly seemed in no individual need of the distinguished doctor's advice; the latter, too, in a kind fort to reassure his embarrassed visitor, addressed him with his usual politeness and condensation.

"Monsieur, I am the proprietor of a menugerie," said the square-shouldered man, "and one of my children is sick—" "Exactly my friend. Of what nature is the disease?"

boy. It were folly to administer chloroform in such a case."
"But, monaieur, you do not know him so well as I," continued the man, importunately. "I pray, I beseeth you to take the chloroform all the same, in case you should need it."
To dispet the anxiety of the nervous man Decter Lexione carried with him the the poor fellow would be undisturbed by the performances. Ascend with me, the performances. Ascend with me, pleuse."

They mounted a half ladder, half stair case, to a kind of loft. The doctor having antered, the showman followed, and closing the door behind him, quickly located it. The former, turning in some surprise at this strange proceeding of his conductor, was sainted with a low grow! from the extreme corner of the room. He immediately fixed his attention upon the source of this unkindly greeding, and to his dismay described a full grown lion slowly approaching them, with an unquestionably wicked and meaning enarl upon his countenance.

"For heaven's sake, doctor, be quick." whispered the beast tamer, hoarsely. "He is ugly to-day."

Still showing his white teeth, the lion slowly crouched in that attitude which the physician had so often observed the same species assume, preparatory to a spring, in the mensgerie of the Jardin des plantes, he had need, them, of self-possession, and, collecting all his energies, he waved a chloroform-drenched handkerchief in the animal's face. The latter recoiled, and in a second afterward began to droop under the effect of the dray. This permitted a still further administration of it, till he was finally afterched powerleas before them. The operation required was then made upon the wound and the proper restoratives applied.

Neither doctor or chowmen spoke a word antil they had descended the steps and stool safely in the room below.

"Monsieur," said the showman, "you have saved by your wonderful presence of mind, a life whose value is incalculable to me. Permit me to offer you my grateful dhanks, and to give you your fees." And he handed the other a hundred franc inte.

"Thank you Monsieur Dompteur," re-

Cultivating Lima Items.

imerican Agriculturiat

The Lima bean is generally considered the most desirable of all the beans grown, and one that requires no little amount of and one that requires no little amount of skill to bring it to perfection. Failure to secure a crop of this kind of beans deters many from making the attempt to grow them. As a rule the want of success is largely attibutable to too early planting, it does best in a warm temperature and should not therefore be planted until the season is somewhat advanced and the should not therefore be planted until the season is somewhat advanced and the season is somewhat advanced and the season throughly warmed. Successful grow-corn recommend that planting be deferred with the first week in June, having the soil thoroughly pulverized and sufficiently dry be as to avoid any danger of its he-coming crusted over so as to impede the eming np of the bean. They should be well fertilized; some recommend a liberal use of super-phosphate; others a heavy manuring with horse manure, but we imagine it makes little difference what the manure is, if it is used in profusion. There must be enough to push the growth of the beans. The best success we ever had with lima beans was with the use of brush for them to run on instead of using poles. When they get to be four or five feet high clip off the ends so as to cause the growth of laterals and to induce an early blooming. With proper attention there need be no reason why the beans should not do well.

No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably mot these three prime conditions as successfully as Allcock's Porous Piasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because anothing yees into them execut is. principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to their work of releiving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of the functions of muscles, nerves, and skin.

The Emperor of Brezil is still out of sorts and not yet able to attend to the governing business.

"He ran a splinter into his thigh; it is very ugly, moneiter, but I am rich enough to pay well."

"Very well, my man," replied the doctor, unable to repress a suile at the simplicity of his visitor, "we will talk of that after a while. Tell me explicitly what is the matter with your child."

"Monsieur, the splinter has lestered in his thigh, and he will let no one touch it; he is headstrong, for all he is very gentle, lit will be necessary, I know, to perform a slight operation; but he is violent and headstrong about it."

"Leave his violence to me. How old is he?"

"Four years only. But I am afraid he will bite or scratch you if you attempt to touch it. You must administer chlore form."
